Dear Sir,

2nd October marks the commencement of wildlife week being celebrated across India with the fundamental aim of raising awareness to promote conservation of Wildlife. Wildlife diseases pose a multifaceted threat, as newly emerging and re-emerging diseases have jointly set the stage for major upheavals both for humans and animals. Changing climatic patterns unfolding across the globe have imposed on us a novel set of problems, which require tailor made solutions in order to progress with sustainability. Our arsenal of knowledge needs constant updation if we are to win this battle of protecting our wildlife.

Indian Veterinary Association in conjunction with the Animal Husbandry Department and Forest & Wildlife Department organizing a two-day knowledge enhancement workshop on 3rd and 4th of October 2019 at the Livestock Management Training Centre, Sulthan Bathery, Wayanad. Experts in the field of Wildlife will handle informative sessions.

The two-day programme will have its valedictory session honored by our esteemed Minister for Animal Husbandry and Forests Sri. Adv. K. Raju. We request your venerable presence to grace the occasion and take home valuable gems of knowledge.

Dr. B. Bahuleyan
President, Indian Veterinary Association
